Japanese Charities
Fully Reported Upon

The Benevolent Society and Japanese Hospital in a Prosperous Condition.

A most flattering condition of affairs is indicated by the semi-annual reports of the Japanese Benevolent society, which were submitted before a meeting of that organization last evening at the Japanese primary school house on Nuuanu street. The reports of the Japanese Charity hospital were also considered at that time.

That the society is accomplishing a great work among the Japanese people in this city was evidenced by the statements submitted by Secretary S. Masuda, who briefly outlined the objects and future ambitions of the society. Since the early part of the year of 1899 the society has seen the necessity of building a permanent hospital in order to carry out its work of charity among Japanese people. It was about this time that Dr. S. Kobayashi realized the need of the hospital and decided to erect one at his own expense. With this end in view a temporary hospital was built on leased ground on Liliha, near School street. Satisfactory arrangements were made for the time being with the hospital and the Benevolent society whereby its patients were to be received and treated at special and reasonable rates. This place was closed immediately at the beginning of the plague, and again the Japanese were left destitute for a place for the care of their sick.

After a time a temporary hospital was erected at Kalihi, but because of the limited quarters many were turned away and denied treatment. The idea of erecting the present hospital was not proposed until along the first of April. After a general canvass among themselves, the Japanese started out a subscription paper and they immediately met with most encouraging responses all along the line. In the very short space of time $5,324.70 was raised. With this sum pledged the society selected a suitable building site at Palama and the completion of the building followed two months later. In his report the secretary took occasion to warmly thank all who had subscribed to this fund and to those who labored for the cause. All the papers of the Hawaiian Islands came in for their share of thanks for favors received. With the co-operation of all interested they were enabled to accomplish their object. The Japanese doctors were warmly commended for the able efforts in behalf of the hospital.

Since the last report fifty-three Japanese have received aid from the Benevolent society. Of these forty-nine were men and four women. Nine persons were assisted in returning to their country. Four were furnished with provisions. One applied for medicines, which were furnished. The funeral expenses of seven were paid out of the funds of the society.

The Japanese hospital has admitted 28 self-supporting patients, of whom 77 were men and 5 were women. Of this number 25 men and 1 woman died. The comparatively large percentage of deaths is largely due to the fact that the patients were brought to the hospital in a critical and dying condition. At the time of the closing of the report the hospital was sheltering 35 patients, 26 of whom were self-supporting.

Treasurer Yasumaru's report for the six months showed a cash balance on the right side of the ledger. The general hospital expenses, including cost of building and lot, aggregated $9,268.96; the cost of the building alone was $7,535.96. The sum of $1,337.50 was received from self-supporting patients during the term. Subscriptions to the Japanese Benevolent society during the past six months amounted to $199.05, of which $240.40 came from the island of Hawaii and $164.55 from Maui. The new hospital was erected through the generous donations of some eighty-eight subscribers, who gave sums varying from $500 to 50 cents. The total subscription for this fund amounted to $5,324.70.

The membership of the Benevolent society showed a healthy increase. Two life and seventy ordinary members have been admitted since the last report. The society at present comprises a membership of 53 life and 156 ordinary memberships. Since September 1, 1901 has been subscribed to the society funds.

The meeting throughout was an enthusiastic one and from reports submitted the society has a prosperous year ahead, in which it hopes to accomplish much good.

YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE A VERY PROFITABLE TIME

Excellent music, nice refreshments and a happy social time were the attractive features of the gathering at the Central Union church last evening under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.

Over a hundred young people were present and all entered into the spirit of the occasion with zest. After a lively air on the mandolin by Charles Praxier to the accompaniment of Mrs. Flaco Richards on the piano, the company were entertained for an hour with proverb puzzles and various other forms of careless diversion. Mrs. C. E. Hyde rendered a vocal selection, with Mrs. Richards at the piano.

A short business meeting was held, at which reports of committees were read on the work of the past month. At the close of the business session refreshments, consisting of cake, ice cream and sherbet, were served to all present.
